Foreword

Research of the Nieland family history is an ongoing effort by several members of this large and colorful family. It draws upon and extends the research done by David A. Nieland that he published in 1965 under the title Stammbaum Der Familie Nieland - The Nieland Family Tree, 1740 - 1965. An updated family tree book was published on the Nieland Family website (www.nieland.our-kin.com) in January 2003 and revised in 2005.

In 2006 and 2007, examination of the church and civil records in Germany revealed even more about our early ancestors. This January 2008 edition of the family tree book includes information about these earlier ancestors as well as over 1,500 new names that we have added to our genealogy database since 2005. We thank all of our extended family members who have graciously sent us new information about births, deaths and marriages as well as corrections for errors and omissions in our data.

This book is provided as a downloadable file on the Nieland Family website by the family researchers solely for the purpose of sharing the results of their research with other family members. Any other use of this data is prohibited. It is hoped that the members of this family will review the data in this book, share it with other relatives, and contact us with any updates or corrections. Updates may be sent to the address listed below.

The Nieland database that was used to develop the reports in this book is continually being updated as new information is uncovered and errors are corrected. This book represents the Nieland Family Tree as it is known as of the date on the title page. No claims as to the accuracy of the data are made.

For privacy reasons, birth and death dates and places for living persons are omitted from the family tree information in this book. The word “private” is used to indicate individuals who are or may be living and for cases where the date of death is not known.

Introduction

The German surname Nieland is quite old, going back at least to the middle ages when surnames were first adopted in Western Europe. The name is thought to denote a geographical feature near which our ancestors once lived and is derived from the Old High German "niuwi" meaning "new" and "lant" meaning "land, territory." Thus the name indicates someone who settled on marsh land newly claimed by drainage or land just cleared by felling of trees.

Searching for Our Roots

Starting with our immigrant Nieland ancestors, we've traced the family tree generation by generation back through the centuries in search of earlier ancestors by examining church and civil records. We've populated the lower branches of the tree mostly with data from publicly available databases plus information sent to us by our living relatives. So far, we have identified over 8,000 family members, including many thousands that were born in America. The family tree now spans 14 generations of Nielands over a period of almost 400 years.

The earliest direct Nieland ancestors that we've discovered so far lived in the early 1600s in a small community called Gemen, whose history dates from the 13th century. It is situated within the present day town of Borken in North Rhine-Westphalia, just a few kilometers from the Netherlands border. Because Gemen was a very small settlement, all individuals with the Nieland surname who lived in or near Gemen at that time were likely related to each other. There were probably even earlier Nieland ancestors in Gemen, but to date we haven't found written records that could prove their connection to our family.

In our search we have studied hundreds of microfilmed birth, death and marriage records from the early church registers from Gemen, which begin in 1661, and also those of the surrounding villages. Unfortunately, there are many gaps in the church history; for example, there are no records for the years between 1700 and 1734. Marriage records only exist for some of the years; they are much less complete than the birth records and they often don't include the names of the parents of the bride and groom. Very few early death records exist for Gemen.

The early church records were handwritten in old German script using a mixture of Old German and Latin words, with many unusual and creative variations in the spelling of words. People's names were typically recorded using the Latin form of the names, e.g., Gerardus for Gerhard, Henricus for Heinrich. We find many variations of spelling for the Nieland surname, including Nilandt, Nilandes, Niland or Nilant, and later Nieland. To help us transcribe the written records we studied books on the subject and also elicited the aid of Dr. Roger Minert, a well known expert in old German script.

In July 2006 we also toured the fortified castle (Burg) in Gemen and visited the city archive in Borken to search for civil records of our ancestors. We found evidence of several Nielands that lived and worked in Gemen.

Where Our Early Ancestors Lived

In the 1600s Gemen was a Herrschaft, which was headed by a noble family that resided in the Gemen Burg—a fortified castle surrounded by water that was first mentioned in 1274 and still exists today. Our ancestors would probably have lived under the dominion of the resident Count—Count Limburg-Styrum. The only church in Gemen at that time was the chapel in the Burg, so that is where all births, marriages and deaths in the community were recorded. The church records indicate that members of the noble von Limburg-Styrum family were occasionally present at the baptisms of some of the Nielands in Gemen. Because our ancestors' names don't appear in the tax rolls of the period, we can safely assume that the Nielands were not land owners then, and may have been peasant farmers, craftsmen or even merchants.

Gemen Coat of Arms

The history of the region compelled us to search for our ancestors in both the Catholic and Protestant church books. During the Protestant Reformation period, the peasant people often had no voice in deciding which religion to follow. In 1555 under the “Peace of Augsburg,” it was decreed that German subjects were required by law to follow the religious faith of their local nobility. In some places entire communities suddenly switched from Catholic to Protestant or vice versa when their local Count or Duke converted to a different religion or a new noble family was installed. Such was the case in Gemen, where in 1558 Otto V of Gemen married a Protestant countess and converted to her religion. After that, the Gemen subjects were Protestants for at least the next 100 years. Then in the later half of 1600s, under Count Adolf-Ernst, who resided in Gemen after his marriage with Countess Isabella, the local religion began to change again as the count and countess tried to lead their Gemen subjects back to the Catholic faith.

So the earliest records that we've found for our direct Nieland ancestors are in the Protestant church books for Gemen—the “Presbytery of the Evangelical Parish at Gemen”—which begin with the year 1661. In the early 1700s the chapel in the Gemen Burg again became a Catholic place of worship. Beginning in 1708 we find birth records for early Nielands in the church books for the “Christus König Katholische” chapel in the Gemen Burg.

After living in Gemen for at least six generations spanning over 200 years, our branch of Nielands moved 6 kilometers north to a farming community called Eschlohn, just outside the town of Südlohn. With the birth of John Henry Joseph Nieland in 1809 we begin to find records of our ancestors in the church books of St. Vitus Catholic Church in Südlohn.

Then sometime after 1852, when the last of John Henry Joseph and Elisabeth Osterhold's five children were born, our ancestors moved again. John and Elisabeth acquired a farm in the farming community of Bleking near Ramsdorf, which is occupied today by their great-great grandson, Anton Nieland. From 1866 on we find records of our Nieland ancestors in St. Walburga Catholic Church in Ramsdorf, which lies 5 km southeast of Südlohn.

Our Nieland Ancestors lived in the region that is now Kreis Borken, North-Rhine Westphalia

Our Earliest Recorded Nieland Ancestors

Our research has identified two individuals in the Gemen records who could potentially be our earliest ancestor—Gerhard Nilandt and Heinrich Nilandt, both of whom were born about 1615. We think that Gerhard and Heinrich Nilandt were probably brothers, the sons of an as yet unidentified earlier Nieland ancestor. Both Gerhard and Heinrich are mentioned repeatedly in the early records so we surmise they may both have held important positions in the community. We believe that one of these two individuals, Gerhard Nilandt, is most likely our actual ancestor but, because there are gaps in the records we don't have proof. So in this book we have simply called the person at the top our family tree "Earliest Nieland Ancestor," rather than name Gerhard Nilandt definitively.

Gerhard Nilandt (Generation 1—likely our ancestor) was born about 1615 and is referred to in several records as the Burgermeister (mayor) of Gemen. We don't know the exact year of his birth, but have estimated it based on the birth years of his children. It appears that Gerhard Nilandt fathered at least five children, including Berndt Nilandt, who we know is our direct ancestor in Generation 2. We draw this conclusion based on the names of the godparents (called Paten or Taufpaten in German) that are mentioned in the baptismal records of Berndt's children and the knowledge that it was common practice at that time for the godparents to be the infant's uncles and aunts or grandparents.

Berndt Nilandt (Generation 2—our ancestor) was born about 1645. Again, we have estimated his birth year based on the birth years of his children because the Gemen church records don't begin until 1661. In the baptism record of his son Maximillian Henrich in 1686, Berndt Nilandt is listed as Burgermeister Berndt Nilandt. In 1669 Berndt married Anna im Porte, who is also referred to as Anna im Wall in some records and Anna Forck in others. Anna bore three children before she died about 1679. Berndt then married Metta Lesterling (or Lefering, Levering), who gave birth to eight more children, the eldest of which was our ancestor, Johann Daniel Nieland (1680-1757).

The Later Generations

Our Nieland family research covers a total of 14 generations but so far we have fully filled out the lower branches of our tree for only five individuals in the 8th generation—the children of John Henry Nieland (1809-1888) and Elizabeth Osterhold (1812-1890). Three of their children emigrated from Germany and settled in the United States in the state of Iowa. Their other two children remained in Germany. Later, three of John and Elizabeth's grandchildren also emigrated. In America the Nieland immigrants prospered and multiplied so that within a few generations there were more Nielands in America than in the homeland.

In addition to the 200 or so early Nieland ancestors our research has identified, this book contains detailed family trees for the following Generation 8 individuals:

1. John Gerhard Nieland (1840-1919), the eldest child of John Henry and Elizabeth Nieland, married Maria Christina Nienhues (1842-1881) in 1866. They lived in Ramsdorf, Germany and had four children, including two sons: Heinrich Josef Nieland (1871-1957), who emigrated in 1892, and Bernard Christopher Nieland (1874-1975), who emigrated in 1895. After the death of Maria Christina, John Gerhard Nieland married Johanna Aloysia Holtwick (1846-1895) in 1881. Together they had three more children, including one son, Hermann Franz Nieland (1885-1957), who emigrated in 1910.

Many of John Gerhard's descendants still live in the same part of Germany as their ancestors. All three of his sons who came to America settled in Iowa, but Bernard and his family later moved to Minnesota. By the 1950s, when Herman Franz and Bernard Christopher returned to Germany for a visit, there were more Nielands from this branch living in America than in Germany. This website includes the names of about 1,000 persons in John Gerhard Nieland's descendant tree, including those recently added by our cousins in Germany.

2. Maria Anna Nieland (1843-1919) was the oldest daughter of John Henry and Elizabeth Nieland, and the first of the Nieland children to immigrate to America. She and her future husband, Gerhard Boes (1837-1915), arrived in America about 1867, were married in Iowa in 1870 and eventually settled in Sac County, Iowa, near the small town of Breda in Carroll County. Anna and Gerhard Boes had nine children. There are about 3,925 individuals in Maria Anna Nieland's branch of the family tree that have been identified so far—about half of the total number of people in our tree.

3. Maria Gertrude Nieland (1845-1912), the middle child of John Henry and Elizabeth Nieland, also remained in Germany and lived in Ramsdorf. In 1873 she married Christopher Bernard Funke (1838-1918). They had four children, one of which died in infancy. We have very little information about the descendants of Maria Gertrude Nieland; we only have about 110 names in the ancestry database. We hope that our German cousins will contact us to help fill out the story of her life.

4. Maria Angela Nieland (1849-1925) the youngest daughter, who arrived in America in 1870, was the last of the siblings to emigrate. In 1873 Angela married John Henry Hoebing (1848-1934), an American born in Illinois, and settled near Breda, Iowa, close to the farms of her brother and sister. Angela and John Hoebing had eleven children, only five of which survived to adulthood. In 1882, they lost their four oldest children in a diphtheria epidemic. The Hoebings moved to a farm near Okarche, Oklahoma in 1902. About 845 members of Maria Angela Nieland's descendant tree are included in the ancestry data in this book.

5. John Henry Nieland (1852-1949) was the second of the siblings to arrive in America in 1869 at the age of seventeen. In 1875 Henry married Anna Berning (1854-1883), a young woman from Iowa, and they settled on a farm just outside Breda, Iowa. Together they had five children. Following Anna's death in 1883, Henry married Anna Köster, (1863-1933) who had also emigrated from Germany. As Henry's wife, Anna Köster Nieland gave birth to eleven children. At the time of his death in 1949, at the age of 97 years, Henry Nieland had more than 175 living descendants. We now count about 1,935 individuals in John Henry Nieland's descendant tree.

Photo History

(Right) Johannes Heinrich Nieland (1809-1888) and Elisabeth (Osterholt) Nieland (1812-1890). Heinrich was born in Eschlohn, which is near Südlohn, and Elisabeth was born in Weseke. They lived in Eschlohn until after their children were born but then moved to a farm just north of Ramsdorf. The farm has passed down through the generations and now belongs to their great great-grandson, Anton Nieland. Three of their children (Anna, Henry and Angela) emigrated from Germany in the mid 1800s and settled in America. Two of their children (Gerhard and Gertrude) stayed in Germany. Three grandchildren also later emigrated.

(Left) Gerhard Boes (1837-1915) and Maria Anna (Nieland) Boes (1843-1919). Anna was born near Südlohn and grew up in Ramsdorf. She was the first of Heinrich Nieland's children to emigrate, arriving in America in 1867. She earned her passage by working as a nanny for several years for a family named Jasper in Dyersville, Dubuque County, Iowa. Gerhard was born in Ramsdorf and served in the Prussian army before emigrating in 1867. They were married in Iowa in 1870. They first lived in Sac county, Iowa, then later moved to a farm just outside Breda.

The photo at right shows Gerhard and Anna (Nieland) Boes with eight of their nine children at their farm near Breda, Iowa, about 1898.

Their oldest son, Henry, died in 1886 at the age of 15.

(Right) John Henry Nieland (1852-1949) and Anna (Berning) Nieland (1854-1883). Henry was born near Südlohn and grew up in Ramsdorf. After receiving letters from his older sister, Anna, that described life in America he became the second of Heinrich Nieland's children to emigrate, arriving in Iowa 1869. He lived for a few years in Dubuque County, Iowa, before moving to Sac County, and eventually settling in Breda, Carroll County, Iowa. In 1873 Henry married Anna Berning, a young woman who was born in Iowa. Anna died shortly after the birth of their fifth child, who also died the next year.

(Left) John Henry Nieland (1852-1949) and Anna (Köster) Nieland (1863-1933). Following the death of his first wife, Henry married Anna Köster (aka Koster). Anna was born near the village of Berge, in the Oldenburg (now Lower Saxony) region of Germany. She immigrated about 1882 and lived with a family in Illinois before her marriage to Henry. Henry and Anna had 11 children, ten of which survived to adulthood.

John Henry Hoebing (1849-1925) and Maria Angela (Nieland) Hoebing (1849-1925). Angela was born in near Südlohn but grew up in Ramsdorf, Germany. She was the last of Heinrich Nieland's children to emigrate, arriving in America in 1870. In 1873 Angela married John Hoebing. He was born in Illinois but his parents were from Südlohn. John and Angela lived in Iowa until they moved to Okarche, Oklahoma in 1902.

Only five of the Hoebing's eleven children survived to adulthood. Their first four children died in a diphtheria epidemic in 1882. Cecelia died in 1898 at the age of 11 years and one other daughter died as an infant.

John Gerhard Nieland (1840-1919). Gerhard was born in near Südlohn and grew up in Ramsdorf, Germany. Being the eldest son, Gerhard inherited the Nieland farm just north of Ramsdorf. He lived there all his life. In 1866 Gerhard married Maria Christina Nienhues (1842-1881) and they had four children. After the death of his first wife, Gerhard married Johanna Aloysia Holtwick (1816-1895), who bore three children. Three of Gerhard's sons emigrated at the end of the 19th and beginning of the 20th century.

This photo shows Gerhard Nieland at age 74 with some of his descendants. Front row: John Gerhard Nieland, Franz Josef Nieland holding Maria Nieland, Bernard Nieland, Elizabeth Nieland, Antonette (Rommewinkel) Nieland holding infant, Gerhard Johannes William Nieland, and Antonette's father, Bernard Rommewinkel. Back row: Maria Bernadine (Nieland) Finke, possibly Elizabeth (Nieland) Wiemelt and Antoinette's younger brother.

Bernard Christopher Nieland (1874-1965), Heinrich Josef Nieland (1871-1957) and Hermann Franz Nieland (1885-1957). These three brothers were grandsons of Johannes Heinrich Nieland and Elisabeth Osterholt (sons of John Gerhard Nieland) that immigrated to America.

Heinrich was the first to immigrate, arriving in 1892 at age 21. He settled in Breda, Iowa, where he married Agnes Ahrling in 1900. They had six children, only four of which reach adulthood.

Bernard immigrated in 1895 and settled in Breda, Iowa, where he married Kate Thelen in 1902. After the first two of their nine children were born they moved to Stearns County, Minnesota. All of their children survived.

The youngest son of Gerhard Nieland, Hermann Franz, was the last of the brothers to immigrate, arriving in 1910. He settled in Breda, Iowa but never married.

In 1956 Bernard and Hermann made a final visit to their homeland, an event that is still fondly remembered by our Nieland cousins in Germany today.

Our earliest known Nieland ancestors lived near Gemen, a small community near Borken. Gemen history is dominated by the history of the local Burg – a fortress which was controlled by a duke and surrounded by a large moat (below right). Gemen did not have a Catholic church at that time; it only had a chapel which was subordinate to the main church in Borken.

Gemen's history was typical of the region following the Reformation. Gemen's residents were originally Catholics, but were forced to become Lutherans in accordance with the laws in the mid-1500s when their local duke converted.

In the mid-1600s they were again free to practice the Catholic faith and many did. Catholics and Lutherans coexisted in Gemen for many years, even sharing a single church until 1703, at which time the Lutherans constructed a separate place of worship.

(Left) St. Vitus Catholic Church in Südlohn, Kreis Borken, Westphalia, Germany). About 1800 our ancestors moved 10 km north to Südlohn. After that their children were baptized at St. Vitus church. Church history says that a chapel was built on the site in the 1200s, followed by a late gothic style church in 1508. In 1936 the church was enlarged to its current size. The photo at left shows St. Vitus before the 1936 expansion.

(Right) St. Walburga Catholic Church in Ramsdorf, Kreis Borken, Westphalia, Germany. After our ancestors moved to Ramsdorf in the mid-1800s, they worshiped at St. Walburga. Construction of the church in the center of the village began around the year 1280. The church was expanded in 1410 and again in 1914. Today Nieland families in Ramsdorf still worship, marry, and baptize their children at St. Walburga.

(Left) St. Bernard Catholic Church in Breda, Carroll County, Iowa, USA. Our immigrant ancestors all lived in or near Breda, Iowa at some point in their lives and worshiped at St. Bernard. Breda was founded in 1877 when the railroad first went through the area. A frame church constructed in 1879 was replaced by this brick church in 1888.

Nieland Ancestral Home.

This 1970s photo of the Nieland farm, which is located just north of Ramsdorf, shows the original building where our immigrant ancestors moved some time after 1852. The building in the foreground includes the barn (facing into the photo) and the family's living quarters. After this photo was taken a new house was built to the left of that building and is now occupied by Gerhard's grandson, Anton Nieland, and his family.

The original dwelling may have been a typical "Hallenhaus" design. In that type of dwelling, which was common for small farmers in this part of Germany, the family and their cattle and horses occupied the same building. The cooking fire was typically at the back of the barn and the family's sleeping quarters was beyond the cooking area at the far end of the building. In the late 1800s many of the Hallenhäuser were being modernized. Vented cooking stoves began to replace the open fire and modern beds replaced the enclosed sleeping compartments and straw mattresses.

Family Reunion in Südlohn. Nieland family members from Germany and America gathered in Südlohn, Kreis Borken, Germany in July 2004.
